

TO:	Curtis Frank & Turfli Sales Team	DATE:	August 5, 2026
FROM:	Brand Strategy & Performance Marketing Group	SUBJECT:	2026 Campaign Rollout & Scrutiny Review

Executive Summary & Creative Scrutiny

The proposed three-tier campaign strategy successfully shifts Turfli from transactional home-services advertising (selling turf and pavers) into aspirational luxury equity (selling an enviable outdoor lifestyle). By adopting the Ralph Lauren brand playbook, Turfli positions itself as the premiere estate standard across Scottsdale, Paradise Valley, Silverleaf, and DC Ranch.

Core Strategic Wins:

- Institutional Authority: Framing "The Turfli Standard" as an uncompromising benchmark protects premium margins and builds long-term brand equity.
- Scarcity & Exclusivity: Positioning booking availability ("2026 Design Slots Filling Fast") rather than price discounts reinforces luxury status while driving direct response.
- Geographic Anchoring: Targeting recognized micro-neighborhoods establishes immediate localized social proof.

Critical Platform & Performance Blindspots

- Pacing & Hook Retention: The proposed 45-second cinemagraphic brand film for Campaign 1 risks steep drop-offs on short-form algorithmic feeds (TikTok / Reels) if it lacks a dynamic visual hook within the first 1.5 seconds.
- Platform-Native Dynamics: High-end serif editorial cards work well on print and desktop display, but mobile-first feeds require motion, voiceover storytelling, before/after reveals, and behind-the-scenes authenticity.
- Conversion Friction: Directing awareness traffic to a static "About" page creates conversion leakage. High-intent traffic requires interactive landing pages equipped with 3D visualization preview tools and instant qualification selectors.

Full-Funnel Campaign Architecture

Campaign 1: "The Turfli Standard"

Strategic Objective: Establish Turfli as an elite design-build institution, eliminating price competition by positioning the company as a single-source residential contractor rather than a trade subcontractor.

Storyboard Rendering & Production Framework:

- Aspect Ratio: 9:16 Vertical Short-Form & 16:9 Landscape Master
- Audio: Ambient desert soundscapes (wind, water features, crisp footsteps on travertine) swelling into a rich, grounded voiceover.
- 0:00 - 0:02 (The Visual Hook): Ultra-high-speed macro transition—close-up of raw desert earth match-cut instantly to a finished Silverleaf outdoor living estate. Overlay text: "Most backyards are built. Ours are orchestrated."
- 0:02 - 0:10 (Craftsmanship): Dynamic precision cuts: paver alignment, clean turf borders, warm copper landscape lighting activating at dusk.
- 0:10 - 0:20 (Accountability Signature): Founder Karl Baum walks an active job site in North Scottsdale, speaking directly off-camera: "One point of contact. One warranty. Zero sub-contractor hand-offs."
- 0:20 - 0:30 (The Retain & Close): High-angle drone shot rising over a completed Paradise Valley estate. Minimal card: The Turfli Standard. CTA: Explore the Portfolio.
